DRIVING TURKS OUT OF EUROPE

LEDGE WIDENS AT MONTEZUMA

According to A. H. Cooper, superintendent for the Montezuma Silver corporation, two assays taken from the bottom of the shaft late Sunday gave returns of from 250 to 287 ounces of silver for a width of over four feet. The shaft has been sunk 19 feet in the rich ore, which is showing considerable quantities of gray copper and zinc, with some iron pyrite.

Many Goldfield engineers have examined the find in the past week, and all have returned highly enthusiastic over the remarkable showing, which, made practically at water level, has great possibilities. There is little doubt, according to engineers, that the shaft is in an ore shoot of considerable size, and they point to the fact that a shoot of only small proportions would be necessary to put the mine into the bonanza class, the ore being exceedingly rich.

SHOT HIS BOY RATHER THAN TO HAVE HIM SHOT

(By Associated Press.)
CHICAGO, March 24.—Frank Pinano, 17 years old, lay on a cot in the county hospital seriously wounded while his father, who shot him "to save his soul," awaited anxiously the outcome of the boy's struggle for life. The elder Pinano last night found his son on the street in company with a gang and after a few words with him fired three bullets into his body. "I am not sorry. Rather than have him hung or shot, I shot him myself," the father told the police.

RAISING QUOTA FOR GOLD RELIEF

Louis B. Gordon, president of the gold producers meeting held at the Elks club, has appointed a committee of seven to raise Nevada's quota of $2,000 to assist in the passage of the gold relief bill. The members are Charles E. Knox, George Wingfield, H. G. Humphrey, John W. Sherman, Frank Short, John G. Kirtland and A. T. D'Arcy. The names are all familiar to the mining world except that of Frank Short, who is not generally known in southern Nevada. He is manager of the Elko Mining company of Jarvis, a Guggenheim company, which ranks as the greatest gold producer of Nevada. Practically every other western state has completed its quota, which represents one-tenth of 1 per cent of the gold production. The states already included in the movement are South Dakota, Colorado, Utah, Oregon, Arizona and California.

"In my opinion," explained Mr. Gordon, "the committee designated is not large enough to reach all gold mining communities and I have suggested that the committee appoint sub-committees to handle the smaller places. Estimates made this morning by Mr. Knox show that if the relief measure passed it would mean an increase of $650,000 in the earnings of Tonopah companies."

REBUILDING THE LONG TRENTLE

The long trestle extending from the upper end of the North Star to the loading chute at the track level will be replaced as fast as men can do the work. A. E. Lowe, manager of the company, expected to have the conveyor in operation by the end of this week but the high winds prevailing since the accident prevented men from handling the heavy timbers. Six hundred feet of the trestle was carried away and the cost of replacing the structure is estimated at over $2,000. In rebuilding, Manager Lowe will move the lower railroad tracks so as to make it more convenient to load trucks for the local mills. The change in the base will result in lowering the left center span and make it more stable.

The team is too proud to fight local players, but will go out into the bushing districts and test their skill on teams from Appleton, Elko and Mina. If they succeed in landing the pennant they will meet the home champions for the supremacy of the camp. To see the ball rolling a meeting of Elks favorable to the formation of a club will be held at the home tomorrow evening at 7:15.
